15.11 najnovije verzije multimedije za sirotke, spremene za zemlju vode, vanzemaljke, voća, mlijeku, vinograda i svi ostali pivci. Let's get something clear right off the bat: Nuance, in case you didn't know, is just the company that makes Dragon Naturally Speaking, the natural language processing (NLP) software that allows you to control computers with your voice. Nuance has made a career out of making the same voice recognition software that will let you type on a computer by speaking into a microphone. Naturally Speaking is a pretty good piece of software, and it's free, but it's not perfect. It's not a silver bullet. There are times when you just need to be able to quickly type a word, and Natural Speaking will simply not cut it. If you speak Swedish, Chinese, or Finnish, however, it can be an amazing time saver when interacting with your computer. What it can do is read a menu to you, and that's about it. In Windows 8, this even gets worse. The longer a menu stays open, the better Natural

Speaking gets at understanding your needs. But after 30 seconds or so, it simply can't do it, and you need to close the menu and start over again. I'm not even going to try to describe what this is like in the native apps of iOS or Android. You'll know what I'm talking about. Pasting screenshots here won't even be as helpful as a video will. The nice thing about these free programs is that they are stable, but even their lack of polish is important. Natural Speech is not a replacement for any real text input software, but it is a very good way to ease yourself into typing with your voice. If you need an even faster, more versatile, and more stable NLP program, Nuance Omnipage Professional 18.1 is an excellent solution. The Omnipage software not only allows you to type with your voice, it also allows you to edit text, read email, and even read PDFs. You can also share documents with it. Unlike the free versions of Dragon Naturally Speaking, you can't record your voice into Omnipage with the keyboard, and it does not support your computer's microphone. Instead, the software uses Nuance's 82157476af
